

Copyright and Legal Contact

Contact information updated October 1, 2026.

Report a concern

For a copyright concern about Digifender, Whumpo, ChapelCloud, LabThrift or a website hosted through Whumpo, email legal@digifender.com. Include the exact URL, a description of the material, the right or issue involved, and a way to contact you. Other abuse or privacy concerns can use the same address; you do not have to claim copyright ownership to report another issue.

Send only the information needed to locate and evaluate the concern. Do not attach suspected child sexual abuse material, nonconsensual intimate images, passwords or unnecessary personal information. A report may need to be shared with the affected party or advisers to investigate it. See the Website Privacy Notice and, for product processing, the Whumpo Privacy Policy.

Copyright-agent status

No DMCA designated-agent registration has been filed for Digifender LLC. The company contacts on this page are available for reports; they are not presented as an approved outside copyright agent or a completed Copyright Office designation. The LLC's registered-agent role does not, by itself, appoint that service as a copyright agent.

The draft Whumpo Copyright and Abuse Policy describes the proposed notice and counter-notice process and identifies the appointment work still pending. That draft is not a representation that all conditions for DMCA safe-harbor protection have been met. The US Copyright Office explains the designation and other Section 512 conditions.
